

0. Passed the door, there's a giant metal web blocking the center of the room, with something inside but you're not quite sure what it is. You look around and see blood stains all over the walls repeating the words "YOU ARE NOT THE ONLY YOU". At your right, there's a big round hole in the wall. At your left, a rusted lever almost hidden by the darkness that fills this room. You can (1.1)[C]heck the hole in the wall, (1.2)[S]ee what's inside the web or (1.3)[P]ull the lever.

1.1. You come closer and see that inside the hole there's only darkness. But you know that there's something that could fit in there. (Apenas se você tiver o item do puzzle 1!) (2.1)[P]ut the snake figure into the hole.

1.2. Getting closer, you can see a humanoid figure lying on a table inside the web. But everything is so dark that you can't really tell if that's correct.

1.3. (Se o jogador colocou a figura no buraco) You grab the lever and pull as hard as you can. It moves a little, but not enough. You concentrate all your energy into your arms and succeeds. The metal web starts to get Orange, as if it was getting hot. It was. The metal melts from the bottom quickly and cools down right next to your feet. You can (2.2)[C]heck what was inside the web.

(Se o jogador nao colocou a figura) You grab the lever and pull as hard as you can. It moves a little, but not enough. You concentrate all your energy into your arms but still fails.

2.1. You put the figure into the hole and hears a clicking noise.

2.2. There's a naked corpse on the table with stiches all over it's torso. You can (3)[O]pen up the stitches.

3. You take your blade and slowly cuts through the stitches, only to reveal a empty hole inside the corpse, without any organs inside. But what you see is a long sword inside it that goes from inside the corpse's torso through it's head, hiding the tip of the sword. You can (4)[T]ry to remove the sword from inside the corpse.

4. You try to push the sword out of the body, covering your hands in blood. Moving it in the right direction, you successfully take the sword out of the body and hears an unpleasant click. You stop for a moment and listen some cracks coming from the ceiling. Then, a loud noise echoes through the room followed by an ocean of unknown liquid that drops into your head. It's blood. You hopelessly panic for a moment, but you can't do a thing. [E]xit the room.